

MUSIC MAXIMUS

Circus Kirk's matchless musicians "strike up the band" with an overture that hints of the musical delights yet to come! The 10-piece brass band leader is David Fulton.

PERFORMERS ON PARADE

Shades of yesteryear! When did you last see a circus parade? Circus Kirk gives you one via the hippodrome track. Hold on to your horses! Here it comes!

MATCHLESS MID-AIR MARVELS

Laura and Mary Boas and Lois Washburn go airborne on the Circus Kirk swinging ladders.

SUPERLATIVE SURPRISES

Tom Davies, Eddie Dingman and Dan Gappa are masters of the art of juggling. Truly masterful manipulation!

FEISTY FISTICUFFS

Who says clowns can't box??? Circus Kirk's leading professors of phoolishness take to the boxing ring. But watch out for that referee!!

CAVORTING CANINES

Marcia Van Pelt displays her canine review—they walk, they jump, they climb ladders and balance on the high wire!

EXTRAORDINARY ESCAPE

Shades of Houdini! Our "man of mystery" Tom Ogden is bound in a police strait jacket, hoisted mid-air by his heels. But he gets loose!

TANTALIZING TUMBLERS

How do they go so fast? And do so much? Eddie Dingman, Julie O'Connor, Tom Davies, Tom Michael, Mary Boas, Bruce Bowers—they make it look easy!

WORLD WAR III?

Watch out! It's two generals quarreling over a boundary line. There's going to be a WAAARRR!!! "People will quarrel about almost anything these days," the announcer says. "Isn't it absurd?"

ASTOUNDING ANIMAL ARTISTRY

Sue Montague mixes horses, ponies, "Bama" the llama and an occasional monkey in a revue for you!

PEERLESS PERFORMING PERFECTIONIST

Iowa AAU champion Dan Gappa performs feats of artistry on the aerial still rings. Watch him!

WONDROUS WIRE WIZZARDRY

Julie O'Connor and Tom Davies make wire-walking look like "strolling through the park one day." Except they don't stroll—they jump, they balance, they dare the silver strand in moments of wire-walking virtuosity.

BRIDGE BUILDING

In Circus Kirk's main theme presentation, its carnival of clowns take a new look at the divisions that prevent persons from working together. Wouldn't it be great if people would cooperate these days??? The clowns overcome their divisions—we hope society takes a lesson from them!

TREASURED TRAPEZE TRIUMPHS

Lois Washburn goes aloft over the center ring, displaying the form, grace and beauty of a true trapeze artist.

EXCITING EQUILIBRISTIC EXPOSITION

Larry Boas and Julie O'Connor mount the rolling globe. Sue Montague takes to the balance beam. Look out! Someone might fall!

PLAYFUL PRANKSTERS PROMENADE

What's that—a trained pig? A giraffe? Rubber ducky? It just might be Circus Kirk's Kongress of Klowns taking over the hippodrome track.

DRESSAGE DISPLAY

Terrie Davis mounts Jubilee Blaze—and the result is a myriad of drills, routines and equestrian artistry.

TRAMPOLINE TROUPERS

So fast, so high! Eddie Dingman, Julie O'Connor, Tom Michael, Bruce Bowers—they mount the trampoline and it's up, up and away!

SPECTACULAR SPINNING STARS

Circus Kirk's airborne girls—Mary and Laura Boas and Lois Washburn—again take to the air. This time in its an aerial "web" routine with a spinning climax!

INVINCIBLE ILLUSIONS

Tom Ogden comes back to amaze you! But wait, Tom—what are you doing to that girl??? Don't saw her in half! Don't stuff her in that box! Tom, Tom! How do you do it all???

FIRE, FROLICS AND FUN

Oh my goodness—it's a fire in the big top! Save the baby!!! But don't worry, Circus Kirk clowns have the situation under control! Or do they? The clowns are Marilyn Diener, Jeff Gabel, Charles L. Boas, Barbara Davies, Gene Hoover—and producing clown Terry Lieb.

CATASTROPHE COOLY COURTED

Tom Davies, Circus Kirk's balancing wizard, mounts the inclined cable and ascends to the top of the tent. And then s-l-o-w-l-y d-o-w-n, daring disaster all the way!

FRIENDLY FINALE

We love our audiences and our banners proclaim our best wishes for them. They also proclaim the beliefs and values of our Circus Kirk community.
